As we enter into new markets and increase our global footprint, it is our duty to act with care to ensure that fundamental rights and freedoms in the workplace are respected, and that we play our role in the prevention of modern slavery within our business and supply chain.

Therefore, we are fully committed to (i) abiding by applicable laws and regulations; (ii) ensuring transparency within our business and supply chains; and (iii) identifying risks and taking the necessary steps to prevent modern slavery within our business and supply chain.

IV. Measures we are taking

Talkdesk has zero tolerance towards forced labor, servitude, slavery and human trafficking. To ensure we conduct our business ethically and transparently, we operate a number of policies:

Our Code of Ethics and Business Conduct applies to all of our directors, officers, employees, agents and representatives worldwide. This code is part of our company culture and outlines our commitment to: (i) comply with applicable laws, rules and regulations, (ii) enjoying a safe and healthy work environment where everybody is treated with dignity; and (iii) maintaining high standards of ethical conduct under which we carry out our business.

Our Anti-Corruption Policy describes our commitment to full compliance with anti-corruption laws.

IV.2 Supply Chain

Our initiatives to identify and mitigate risks in our supply chain involve:

Procurement. We have centralized our procurement function. This enables us to have appropriate controls in place for all our purchasing activities.

Supplier due diligence. Following a risk-based approach, we actively monitor our supply chain by undertaking due diligence on new suppliers and ongoing monitoring for existing suppliers. For example, we may: (i) obtain and assess supplier certifications; (ii) require our suppliers to complete a self-assessment questionnaire or provide evidence that they operate in a responsible and ethical manner; and (iii) carry out audits.

Supplier Code of Conduct. We expect our suppliers and business partners to uphold the same core values and high standards, and to ensure that no form of slavery or human trafficking takes place within their business or supply chain. Talkdesk is implementing a Supplier Code of Conduct which is aligned with our Code of Ethics and Business Conduct, and Anti-Corruption Policy. Our suppliers and business partners will be required to comply with the Supplier Code of Conduct to do business with us.

Contractual requirements. Our standard contracts include clauses requiring our suppliers and business partners to comply with all applicable anti-slavery and human trafficking laws, statutes, regulations and codes.

Enforcement. We will act on any violation of our core policies by our suppliers or business partners. We will firmly require prompt remediation of any issues identified or, if necessary, terminate the business relationship.

Risk assessments. We have undertaken (and will continue to undertake) risk assessments as part of our expansion into new markets to identify our exposure modern slavery. We are committed to implement further controls and develop sustainable practices as part of those risk assessments.
